Strictly Pure Ice!

Citizens of Andover desiring a strictly pure article of ice should see that their supply comes from Ponds pond. As pure a sheet of water as there is in Massachusetts, surrounded by hill and wood. Fed entirely by springs, there is no chance for impurities, not even locomotive cinders. It is of as much historic interest as her larger sister in connection with the Red Men or the Black, and is not behind in sentimentality, and it is ahead in purity.

I secured two thousand tons of ice from its surface the past winter, and am prepared to furnish persons with it at reasonable rates in quantities to suit. Orders left with R. & A. Abbott will receive prompt attention.

Those Wrinkled Hands.

BY REV. VARNUM LINCOLN.

Those wrinkled hands that o'er a woman's breast
Now folded lie in death's last solemn sleep,
Alas! how cold and still; but God knows best;
His time will choose; while we in silence weep,
Who had by those dear hands been often blest,
But now shall miss the love that flowed so deep.
No more shall we enjoy their soft caress,
Nor feel again their clinging tenderness.

In those lines where the plough of Time has run,
And heaped with furrows deep the trace of years,
The marks of toll, the change of shade and sun,
The record of a lengthened life appears;
Many a tale they tell of joys begun,
And hopes soon ended in a dash of tears.
Those veins of blue her sunny skies unroll,
That skin so fair the whiteness of her soul.

But lo! as we read on, what sight is this?
A cherub form with dimpled hands and small,
Bright golden locks, and lips that tempt a kiss,
Like paintings seen on old cathedral wall;
Some angel sent from distant worlds of bliss,
That sunbeams bring to this dim earthly ball.
Again, we look; a laughing girl is seen,
To school she skips or romps in orchards green.

In these oddly fashioned lines, next, we trace
The vision of a maiden sweet and fair;
By garden gate she waits; upon her face
Rests light's rosy tinge, as if gathered there
The crimson blush of thousand mornings' grace;
Or is that glow of bliss beyond compare,
Aught else than love's warm thrill, as there she stands,
Holding in her own another's tender hands?

Life's busy noon unfolds; and what befell
In sober age; how hands now pale and cold,
Were moved to kindly acts; oft strove to quell
A neighbor's grief; and wipe the gathering mold
Of death from aching brows. Sickbeds can tell;
And poor their saintly deeds confess with old.
Then rest, sweet hands, with scars of battle won,
Like folded banners when the day is done.
Andover, March 13.

An illustrated explanation of the Australian ballot system on Page 6.

The Si Plunkard Company which was advertised to appear in the Town Hall, Wednesday night, failed to show up. Quite a number were at the doors, waiting entrance.

There will be a union missionary prayer meeting at the South church to-night at 7.45. All are cordially invited.

Next Friday evening, Oct. 11, the West Parish Juvenile Society will hold its annual fair. There will be an address by a missionary in the church at 8.30, after which supper will be served in the vestry, where there will also be an interesting display of fancy articles and other things for sale, among which will be a choice lot of vegetables, a grand opportunity to purchase a winter supply. Exercises in the church free, while the usual admission will be charged to the vestry.

Mr. Francis Cogswell, superintendent of schools in Cambridge, and Mr. Barrel, principal of the Grammar School, were visiting the town schools this week.

Mrs. Stephen Sackson has returned from a visit to Nova Scotia.

S. K. Johnson is seriously ill at his home on Main St.

George Goldsmith of West Parish has been drawn juror to the October term of the Superior Court at Lawrence.

Chief of Police Cheever took Julia Glynn before Judge Stone at Lawrence, Monday. She was charged with the larceny of $23 and a shawl from Mrs. Geo. C. Lyle of this town. She had been employed by Mrs. Lyle as a housegirl. She was found guilty and sentenced to a year in the House of Correction.

Miss Annie Butterworth of Marland Village was united in marriage, Sunday, to Mr. George Crabtree of Haverhill at the latter place, which will be their home. Mrs. Crabtree will have the best wishes of her many friends in this town.

District Deputy Grand Master Morrill of No. Andover will make an official visit to St. Matthew's Lodge of masons, next Monday night.

There will be a Harvest Concert by the South church Sunday School next Sunday at 5 P. M. Mr. E. Lawrence Barnard will address the school.

H. H. Tyer and family have returned to town from their summer residence at Clifton.

The Loyal Legion will meet in the South church vestry, Saturday afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock. An especially large attendance is desired in order to meet the new superintendent, Mrs. Sterns.

The first of the regular meetings of the Sunbeam Mission circle will be held in the South church vestry, Saturday, Oct. 5th, at 2.30 P. M.

One of the incandescent lamps used in the street lighting was broken on Thursday evening, evidently the work of boys. A heavy penalty is attached to such actions as this, and the Electric Co. promptly offer a reward for the conviction of any such mischief makers.

The October meeting of the Merrimack Valley Congregational Club will be held next Monday evening, at the First Church, in Lowell. Besides a social hour and supper at 6 o'clock, there will be a discussion on "The Christian's Responsibility in Social and Corporate Relations," and among the speakers will be Rev. Emory Haynes of Boston, and Principal Kinley of the Johnson High School. Tickets may be obtained from John N. Cole, and the train will leave Andover at 4.24 P. M.

The Niotus Club will play another base ball game with the Phillips Academy team to-morrow afternoon, at 2.30, on the Niotus grounds. Admission, 25 cents.

The Board of Registrars at the meeting Wednesday night added four new names to the Voting List. The next meeting will October 9th.

Four hundred and twenty-three dogs have been licensed up to date, and Chief of Police Cheever has killed eleven for non-license.

A vault which is probably as secure as human ingenuity can make it is now being set up in the rooms of the new Bank Building. The lining is composed of different plates of hardened steel, put together with steel screws one inch in diameter, tempered and drill proof, and all the corners are fastened with box angles. A correct idea the rapid progress that has been made the art of safe making can only be obtained by personal inspection, and it would well repay anyone to examine the work, through which thieves can never break through and steal.

The disappointed ones who failed to obtain good seats at the sale of tickets for the People's Course last Saturday night, should remember that there are 240 seats to be sold at 50 cents for the course. That they have a chance, by going somewhat earlier, of obtaining one of the best of these, equal to any of the $1 seats,—that there are 150 of these tickets yet unsold, and that there will be a large sale of these next Monday night if not sold before. There are also a few 75 cent tickets now on sale with the 50 cent ones at the Andover Bookstore. Any two of the eight excellent evenings arranged are well worth the price of the Course ticket, and there will be no trouble in hearing in any seat in the hall. Every seat should be occupied.

The semi-annual meeting of the Andover Conference will be held next Tuesday at the Congregational church in North Andover. The following is the programme of the exercises: Morning session—9 o'clock. Half-hour prayer meeting (see John xi, 56) led by Dea. J. G. Buttrick, of Lowell; Organization and Business; Discussion. Theme: "Success in our Churches." Two papers: 1. Fidelity to Christ implies fidelity to our own local church. By Rev. J. J. Blair, Andover. 2. Personal work among members, the life and success of our churches. By Rev. J. M. Greene, D.D., Lowell; Collation. Afternoon session—2 o'clock. Half-hour prayer meeting, led by Rev. William A. Keesee, of Lawrence; Business; Address: The End the teacher should have in view in Sunday School Work, and the way to reach it. By Mr. C. J. Spenceley, Boston; Discussion.

The new method of voting by the Australian system is clearly illustrated on Page 6.

HE WAS TOO HOGGISH.

Teaching a London Cabby That All Americans Are Not "Easy Marks."

The hansom cab is a London institution; at any rate, it is in London seen at its highest state of perfection. Long acquaintance has established custom which has crystallized into exact regulation by which every London "cabby" is bound. Most of the jehus of that town rent their "rigs"—cab and horse—from companies. They must pay so much a day to these companies, no matter what their own luck may be in capturing "fares." This sum is generally a sovereign—say $5 a day. On bad days, therefore, and on all days for that matter, there is the strongest temptation for cabby to rob his passengers. He has perhaps not evolved beyond the moral stage where robbery is possible. But he is always restrained by the rules—the laws of the police—which name a certain price for a certain distance. And every London man knows these rules. He knows how far he may ride for a shilling, and how much farther for a shilling. And if there is one creature on earth who is in the habit of maintaining his rights against the demands of extortion it is the London man. In case of dispute there is always the policeman, who, in contradistinction from the New York policeman, always decides with, instead of against, the respectable citizen.

It is only when a foreigner—and especially an American—comes to London that the London cabby pricks up his ears. The American is known abroad as the "easy mark" for extortion. "Princes, Americans and fools"—so the European saying goes—are guilty of all the extravagances. They overfee waiters, overpay cabmen and ride in first class railway carriages, while sensible Europeans look on in wonder and disgust. An American—a Chicago man—tells of an experience which he had in London. He took a cab with a friend from his lodging house in Bloomsbury to a theatre in Piccadilly Circus. The fare—which is the same for two persons as for one—was rightfully eighteen pence. But the American, with that fool generosity which distinguishes the American abroad, gave the cabman two shillings. The fellow knew at once that his passenger was an American—no Englishman would have been guilty of such an indiscretion—and seeing another sixpence in prospect, began to clamor for half a crown.

"What did I give you?" demanded the American.

"Only two bob, sir," said cabby, "and the fare's to-and-six, so 'elp me Gawd, sir."

"Give me back the two bob," said the American.

Cabby, expecting that his demands were to be acquiesced in, handed over the coin. The American thereupon went down into his pocket and fished out a shilling and a sixpence.

"Here," he said, handing the money to the cabman, "here is your proper fare."

Jehu looked unutterable things, but, finding his customer firm and a policeman near at hand, pocketed the one-and-six, together with his alleged grievance, and drove away.

So it will be in Chicago when the man who uses cabs learns his rights and knows how to enforce them. There will be some unpleasantness for the pioneers in the good fight, but there is glory awaiting the men who will make the first fight.—Chicago Herald.

Origin of the Name Tacoma.

It may be added that the name Tacoma was never known till Theodore Winthrop's remarkable book, "The Canoe and the Saddle," appeared in November, 1882, says The Portland Oregonian. In 1852 Winthrop went to Panama for William L. Aspinwall, and visited California and Oregon the next year. In August, 1853, he was at Puget sound, and resolved to return to the east across the plains. His book, written in a somewhat sophomoric style, but remarkable for its poetic, imaginative and descriptive passages, gives an account of his voyage with Indians in a canoe through Puget sound and his horseback ride over the Cascade mountain from Nesqually to the Dalles, with Indian guides. In this book the great mountain gets the name "Tacoma." Winthrop professes to have obtained the name from his Indian guides, and he gives his imagination play in a supernatural legend of the mountain. It is probable that the name "Tacoma" was a result of his effort to reproduce or imitate a word given him by his guides, who were Yakima Indians, and that the word was a common one used by these Indians as a term for all snow white mountain peaks. The name of the city of Tacoma was taken by its founders from Winthrop's book. Winthrop was killed at Big Bethel, Va., early in the war of the Rebellion, and "The Canoe and Saddle," with other books he had written, and which evidently had lain some time in his desk, was published immediately after his death.—Seattle Journal.

A SINGULAR CITY.

Over Thirty Thousand Happy People with Neither Shop, Artisan Nor Trade.

Lying between Assam and Burmah is the remote little hill state of Manipur, lately visited by Indian officers, one of whom, writing on the forests of the state in Indian Forests, gives an extraordinary account of Imphail, the capital. It is situated in what appears a dense forest.

"Neither spires nor chimneys out the blue sky, nor is smoke observed to ascend from the sylvan scene of the capital. Nothing, in fact, bespeaks of the busy home of 30,000 to 40,000 people, and yet hidden away among these trees is the palace of the rajah, and hard by are the houses of his favorites, each family having a large inclosure around the homestead. Imphail may thus be described as a city of villages, or rather suburban residences, around the palace. Straight, wide roads, lined with trees, frequently intersecting each other at right angles, afford the means of communication, but neither shop, artisan nor wheeled conveyance exists in the city; industry and skill occur only in the distant rural homes."

The people of the capital are the promoted favorites of the ruler, who have had assigned to them plots of ground near the palace, and live by pressing upon the persecuted agriculturists of the state.

The capital of Manipur is a royal residence dedicated to luxury and amusement. The streets are crowded with smiling healthy faces, of which few bear the marks of toil or labor. There are no schools in the state, and court favor and promotion are secured by success in polo. Coinage is unknown, and the men are not allowed to trade; imports and exports, except in certain articles that yield a royal revenue, are practically prohibited.

The women from the distant villages repair on a certain day to the capital or to other recognized centers. Each carries on her head a neatly made square basket, in which has been placed the surplus stock of the homestead, the labors of her industrial skill or of her husband's agricultural knowledge. On reaching the market place the contents of these baskets are exposed and bartered, when each returns again to her family, carrying off the proceeds.

On market days the long, straight road from Bishenpur to Imphail is crowded by groups of women hurrying to and fro. Each wears an elegantly striped dress in bright colors made of silk and cotton. The stripes run along the length, and top and bottom are neatly embroidered. A long piece of cloth is cleverly carried across the breast and just under the armpits, instead of round the waist, and is firmly tucked up, so that the top embroidered edge falls forward, adding an additional fold to the garment, while the bottom edge reaches a little below the knees. The legs and arms are left exposed. The women are the only traders in the whole state.—London Times.

Put in the Law.

There is one other thing that ought to be made a penal offense, with a minimum fine of at least $200, with imprisonment of not less than six months. It is that of doubting the statements of a man who has been a-fishing. Fish have been caught ever since hooks were invented. The fish were made to be caught. They rather expect it. It is no trick at all to catch fish. And yet as Jones returns from his vacation he is stopped and asked:

"Been away?" "Yes."

"Up north?" "Yes."

"Went fishing, I suppose?" "Of course."

"Catch anything?" "Certainly."

"H'm! Caught some four pounders, I presume?"

"Yes; I caught one which weighed seven pounds."

"H'm! Good-by!"

Jones not only caught one weighing seven pounds, but a number which weighed five and six pounds apiece, but he dared not speak of it. Even with what he did say he felt that the other man believed him to be a liar. As he walked on he felt belittled and degraded, and he made up his mind to tell a bold lie on the next occasion and declare that he did not even see a fish while he was gone. Something should be done in this matter, and it cannot be done too soon. A man should be protected in telling the truth as well as in life and limb.—Detroit Free Press.

Hang Up Your Watch.

When not carried in the pocket a watch should always hang by its ring in the same position as it is worn. As a rule watches will run with a different rate when laid down. Only high grade watches are adjusted to positions and will show only a few seconds difference in twenty-four hours, while common watches may be out of time several minutes in one night.—Jeweler's Weekly.

About Typewriters.

It is astonishing that out of the large number of girls that learn shorthand and typewriting how few there are who make a success of it. The colleges have been crowded with shorthand and typewriter students for the last four or five years, and yet even now expert operators are not by any means a drug in the market. One would think, considering the large number of girls that have studied shorthand and typewriting, that it would be an easy matter to secure good operators, but although incompetent operators are plentiful I can assure you that there are very few "experts" hunting positions. Any one who doubts this can try the experiment of trying to secure the services of a first class typewriter in a hurry, and he will meet with disappointments that will convince him of the truth of my remarks.—Interview in St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The Queen's Closed Rooms.

When Queen Victoria dies the numerous suites of rooms now closed in the royal palace will probably be reopened for occupancy. The queen has a strong penchant for closing rooms once used by her friends. The apartments in Claremont in which the Princess Charlotte died more than seventy years ago are rigorously closed. Prince Albert's apartments at Windsor, Osborne and Balmoral are all kept precisely as they were when he was alive. The duchess of Kent's rooms at Frogmore are also shut up, which renders that abode absolutely useless, as they are the best in the house. The queen has also kept John Brown's rooms at Windsor entirely closed since the death of that domestic.—Exchange.

A Romeo Who Does Chores.

There is said to be a young man at West Newton, Pa., who, when he goes to see his girl, is compelled to split wood, carry in coal, run errands and work in the garden, by the girl's mother, before he is allowed to do any courting. We should think that when he had all these tasks accomplished it would be time to go home to breakfast; but perhaps he is permitted to remain until the morning meal is prepared and is made to help his girl wash the dishes. He says he won't kick so long as the old woman doesn't send the girl to bed and insist upon being courted in her place.—Norristown Herald.

A Pointer for Taft Hunters.

A French paper notes that the members of a distinguished family of Limousin, when about the age of 20, develop a round tuft of white hair over the forehead, albeit the rest of their hair may be black, brown or red. The portraits of their ancestors for many generations past show this distinguished mark, of which the descendants are not a little proud. We believe the Orsini family of Italy are also remarkable for the growth of a tuft of white hair, a characteristic of their ancestors during many centuries.—London Court Journal.

Making Mummies.

La Casas describes the Peruvian burial rites as follows: "The dead are wrapped in the skin of the llama, then clothed and deposited in a sitting posture. The doors of the tombs, which are all toward the east, are then closed with stone or clay. At the end of a year, when the body becomes dry, the doors are again opened. There is no bad odor, because the skins in which the body are placed are sewn up very closely, and from the cold they soon become mummies."—Science.

Artificial Sponges.

A new sponge industry is being developed on the coast of Dalmatia as an outcome of experiments by Professor Oscar Schmidt, of Styria. Professor Schmidt planted in favorable spots very small cuttings of live sponge, and in three years was rewarded with a fine crop of large sponges. The expense was small; the total cost of 4,000 sponges being not more than 225 francs.—New York Telegram.

One More Hope.

He—You are the only daughter?
She—Yes.
He—I should think your father would be willing to set the fellow who marries you up in business!
She—Well, I don't know. Pa has made that offer six times now, and nothing ever came of it any time; but, George, if you want me it might do to see the old man about it.—Epoch.

Grains of Gold.

Family matters should never be discussed before strangers.
Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices.—Emerson.
The only thing certain about litigation is its uncertainty.—Bovee.
Minds of modern caliber ordinarily condemn everything which is beyond the limits of their comprehension.—

RUSSIAN TAXATION.

The Heavy Burden Laid Upon the Peasants Is More Than They Can Bear.

The burdens of the peasantry are very heavy. In Russia the superior classes enjoy many exemptions from taxation, and the public revenue is taken mainly from the peasant classes. The annual redemption money they have to pay to the state for their land is a most serious obligation, and between one thing and another the burdens on the land in a vast number of cases exceed its net return very considerably. Professor Thun states that in 2,000 cases of letting holdings which had occurred in the province of Moscow at the time he wrote the average rent received was only 3 rubles, 56 kopecks per "soul," (land share,) while the average taxation was 10 rubles, 30 kopecks. Stepniak says that in thirty-seven provinces of European Russia the class who were formerly state peasants pay in taxes of every description no less than 92.75 per cent. of the average net produce of their land, and that the class who were formerly serfs of private owners pay as much as 192.25 percent. of the net produce of theirs.

Land owning on these terms is manifestly a questionable privilege, and the moujik pays his land taxes as the Scotch crofter has sometimes to pay his rent, not out of the produce of his holding, but out of the wages of his auxiliary labor; but the Scotch crofter, under his system of individual tenure, has one great resource which is wanting to the other—he can always cut the knot of his troubles by throwing up his holding, if he chooses, and emigrating.

To the Russian peasant emigration brings no relief. He is born a proprietor and cannot escape the obligation of his position wherever he may go. He may try to let his ground—and in many cases he does—but, as we see, he cannot often get enough rent to meet the dues. He may leave his village, if he will, but his village liabilities travel with him wherever he may settle. He cannot obtain work anywhere in Russia without showing his pass from his own commune; and since, under the principle of joint liability that rules in the communistic system, the members of the commune who remain at home would have to pay the emigrants arrears if he failed to pay them himself, they are not likely to renew the pass to a defaulter.

The Russian peasants are thus nearly as much adistrict glebe as they ever were; they are now under the power of the commune as completely as they were before under the power of their masters, and their difficulty is still how they can possibly obtain emancipation. Sometimes they will defy the commune, forego the advantage of a lawful pass, crowd the ranks of that large body in Russia who are known as the "illegal men," and sometimes, we are assured, by Professor Thun, a whole village, every man and every family, will secretly disappear in a body and seek refuge from the tax collector by settling in the steppes.—National Review.

Degrees of the Human Voice.

A very remarkable discovery has recently been made by a lady who has for some time been making experiments to ascertain the degrees of intensity in a note, when sung by the human voice. While testing the capability of the "phonoscope," which registers the air waves produced by the vibration of the voice, the idea struck her, that, if a more sensitive substance were used, the disturbance of the air could be more accurately registered. After many attempts, she succeeded in finding the substance which she was in search of, and her anticipations proved correct. On this substance, Mrs. Hughes spreads a thin layer of colored powder. The membrane is then placed in the bottom of a kind of trumpet, into which the note is sung. The powder, according to the quality of the note, diffuses itself into the most wonderful shapes, which are then transferred to glass by another process. The forms of flowers and plants seem to be the most usual. The discovery is attracting much attention among scientific men.—Young Ladies' Journal.

The Class in Spelling.

The first class in "spellin'" was a fair sample of similar classes of the old ungraded school, comprising about forty, nearly all sturdy young men and blooming damsels, old enough to vote in town meeting. Occasionally a bright boy or girl would be promoted to the first class for superior ability to handle the long, hard words. Here's the way the children of that period were taught to spell and pronounce:

"Incomprehensibility."

"In in, c-o-m con, in-com, p-r-e pre, in-compre, h-e-n hen, in-comprehen, s-i si, in-comprehen, b-i-l bil, in-comprehensibil, i, in-comprehensibili, t-y ty, in-comprehensibility.—Lewiston Journal.

The Bar Harbor Girl.

A philosophic young man from the west has been recording his observations on the Bar Harbor girl's aptitude for flirtation. She flirts in what might be called the sledge hammer fashion he says. There are no delicate shadings or leadings up in her book of coquetry. She begins by saying: "Do you know, I really wondered whether you really meant what I heard you said about me." (The unfortunate man has probably said nothing, but she is counting on his forgetting whether he did or not, and usually her count is correct.)

He says: "Oh, really, Miss De Vere, I couldn't have said anything about you that wasn't pleasant." Miss De Vere feels then that Casey is at the bat, and that the game is in her own hand, so she answers with her most intense look:

"I heard that you said that you thought I was hard hearted."

Then the unfortunate, who doesn't care whether she is hard hearted or not, but thinks if she eats much more ice cream she will have to have a dose of ginger, responds: "Oh, no; but you have been cruel in not letting me come near you."

Then he wonders that the ground doesn't open and swallow him, for she has been running after him day and night until he has quite made up his mind to leave the place.

If she knew how to be coy this would be her opportunity, but instead she says: "Well, I will try and be kinder to you in the future. Tomorrow you shall go backboard driving with me in the morning, you shall lunch at our table, and we will have a long, quiet afternoon."

This is too much—too much bliss for one man. And so he announces that he is sick and must go home. She is perfectly willing to go with him and take care of him, but this he declines, telling her that she must think of what people will say about her. Once at the hotel that young man packs his clothes and takes the first train home, and when he gets there he says to his chum: "Charley, if you love your liberty and your country never go near Bar Harbor, for a girl will marry you out of hand, and say yes for you at the altar before you have an opportunity for more than a bowing acquaintance with her."—New York Sun.

The Food of Man.

The lower mammals can live and flourish with comparatively little change of diet; not so man. He demands food not only dissimilar in its actual grosser nature, but differently prepared. In a word for the efficient nervous impulses, on which the digestive processes depend, to be properly supplied, it has become necessary that a variety of afferent impulses (through the eye, ear, nose, palate) reach the nervous centers, attuning them to harmony, so that they shall act, yet not interfere with one another.

Cooking greatly alters the chemical composition, the mechanical condition, and, in consequence, the flavor, the digestibility, and the nutritive value of foods. To illustrate: meat in its raw condition would present mechanical difficulties, the digestive fluids permeating it less completely; an obstacle, however, of far greater magnitude in the case of most vegetable foods. By cooking, certain chemical compounds are replaced by others, while some may be wholly removed. As a rule, boiling is not a good form of preparing meat, because it withdraws not only salts of importance, but proteins and the extractives—nitrogenous and other. Beef tea is valuable chiefly because of these extractives, though it also contains a little gelatine, albumen and fats. Salt meat furnishes less nutriment, a large part having been removed by the brine; notwithstanding all persons at times, and some frequently, find such food highly beneficial, the effect being doubtless not confined to the alimentary tract.

Meat, according to the heat employed, may be so cooked as to retain the greater part of its juices within it, or the reverse. With a high temperature (65 degs. to 70 degs. C.) the outside in roasting may be so quickly hardened as to retain the juices.—Wesley Mills, M. D. in Popular Science Monthly.

The Age for Consumption.

Consumption is rare in childhood, but increases rapidly after the age of 15, and is most common between the ages of 25 and 30. Those who escape it till the latter age are less and less prone to it as they advance in years, and may escape it entirely, even though they may have a hereditary predisposition to it.—New York Telegram.

There was a case of brutal wife murder in South Boston early Sunday morning. Wm. Hennessey, after drinking hard Saturday night at his home in company with friends, became angry with his wife, striking her on the head with a chair, kicking her and throwing her down stairs which broke her neck and resulted in her death.

The inquest into the cause of death of the victims of the recent disaster at Quebec closed Saturday afternoon. The verdict was that their deaths were a result of gross and culpable neglect on the part of the federal officers of the Dominion in not taking the necessary precautions—by not building the buttresses recommended to the same authorities by the City Engineer of Quebec in 1880.

The forthcoming issue of the Farmer's Review will report that the potato crop of 1889 will probably exceed in quantity that of any previous year in the United States. The acreage is less than that of last year, but the conditions of growth have in general been very favorable, and there has been an unusual absence of insect enemies. The total crop is estimated at 233,700,000 bushels, which exceeds last year's crop by over 17,000,000 bushels.

The 6th District Councillor Convention at Lowell, Tuesday, after taking nine ballots and no candidate being nominated, adjourned till next Tuesday at 10 o'clock in the same place. At the close, Loring of Melrose had a slight lead, but Truell had gained considerably from the first. The Malden candidate, Pierce, holds the balance of power; and whoever gets the most of his votes will probably be nominated.

The Democratic State Convention was held at Worcester, Wednesday, and the following ticket was placed in nomination: For Governor, Hon. William E. Russell; for Lieut. Governor, John W. Corcoran of Clinton; for Secretary of State, William N. Osgood of Boston; for Treasurer and Receiver General, E. B. Munn of Holyoke; for Auditor, D. T. Trefry of Marblehead; for Attorney General Elisha B. Maynard of Springfield.

A shocking accident occurred in Lynn, Tuesday, in the Chatham St. trench. James Goff was standing in the trench, which is fifteen feet deep. He was using a long iron tamping bar, tamping the earth. The ground had been saturated by the heavy rain, and gave indications of crumbling. A laborer passed along near the edge of the trench above Goff, and a little earth fell. The next instant a great mass directly over the man below loosened from the bank of the trench and fell, striking Goff squarely on the back of the neck, forcing his head directly over. The long handle of the tamping bar entered his neck with terrible force, bursting the jugular vein. The blood gushed forth in torrents, and before help could reach him Goff was dead. He was thrown a distance of eight or ten feet along the pipe, which was covered with blood.

Glen Mills Breadstuffs.Among their specialties are made from the very best pure yellow corn, thoroughly cleansed, ground and bolted by a process peculiar to this mill. It distances all other bolted meals in the market in sweetness and flavor.

ENTIRE WHEAT FLOUR

is made from selected, choice, ripe wheat, the grain first having been thoroughly cleansed, secured and brushed, the woody fibre discarded, the inner brand retained, and the whole reduced to a uniform fineness by a process peculiar to our own mills. Every effort of the mind or movement of the muscle involves the waste of nervous energy and vitality; we must build up our systems by those elements which will replace those wastes. Chemical analysis shows us that waste flour cannot do this, as the best part of the wheat is sacrificed for the sake of the color.

Candidates for Representative.

That the choice of a representative to the General Court from the Andover district is in the hands of the republican voters, is a fact demonstrated in more than a score of elections. But that the margin of several hundred votes usual a dozen years ago, has been gradually growing less many of our republican voters overlook. This is, however, a fact also, and we can remember several elections where the margin has been so small as to show that some of our voters want the best men first and party afterward. Inasmuch as the above is so, nearly all of the work for this office comes before the nomination, and this year report has it that several applicants are in the field, each with somewhat of a following. The most prominent ones mentioned in the TOWNSMAN several weeks ago, are A. S. Manning, Barnett Rogers, and George H. Poor, Esq. Mr. Manning represented the district in 1888, and while personally he is doing no work for the office, he would appreciate the honor another year, and friends will endeavor to make the honor his. With perhaps one or two exceptions the duties of the 1888 session were creditably performed by Mr. Manning. Mr. Rogers' principal claim to the office seems to be based upon the past service he has rendered the republican party; a sort of "due bill" as it were, with the demand that now is the time to redeem the "promise to pay." We have the utmost respect for Mr. Rogers' aspirations, and hold him and his adherents in high esteem personally, but as compared with other men who may be named for such an office as this, we believe there are men more "representative" of Andover than he. The third name is a familiar one to Andover people, and stands for much and varied service. An Andover boy, an Andover citizen, many public trusts carefully and honorably performed, all make a strong claim upon the office, on the part of George H. Poor. Mr. Poor possesses many peculiar qualifications for the office, and would make an able representative. A representative of Andover cannot stand for any small clique or clan. He cannot in the light of our extensive and successful manufactures, our grand and honorable institutions of learning, be a narrow man, he cannot, to be the true representative, be an uneducated man. He must be the opposite of all these, and beyond that, be a man of experience coming from knowledge of the town's interests. No man can be found possessing all these qualifications, nor has one ever been found, but in the light of the duties that are sure to be expected from our representative this year, let our voters select wisely, and inasmuch as the choice rests almost wholly with the republicans, let all attend the convention with only the interests of the town in mind, losing sight wholly of any petty disagreements or party quarrels.

One of the strongest reasons for the nomination of Mr. Poor, as representative this year, is his peculiar fitness for some of the duties that are likely to fall to the lot of Andover's representative in the coming legislature. Everything points to the probability of another effort being made to take the waters of the Shawsheen River. The city of Boston has recently given notice to Somerville, Chelsea, and Everett, that she cannot much longer supply them with water, and in fact the Mystic waters are fast becoming so bad that it is quite a question if she can even supply herself. These three towns will combine in their effort to obtain the Shawsheen, as the most available source of supply, and as their needs are imperative, they will make a strong claim, and one that must be met by intelligent and vigorous opposition from Andover's representative. Of course Andover has no further need of the Shawsheen as a source of water supply, but that she still has as pressing need as ever for the use of her waters in manufacturing industries, will be clear to everyone. Another thing that there is danger of our losing sight of, is the matter of sewerage that must come in a few years, and when it comes, the waters of the Shawsheen mean a great saving of money and much to the advantage of public health if they may be used in connection with a sewerage system. Mr. Poor's familiarity with the whole question comes from an acquaintance with it since its first agitation. As counsel for the town and mill owners, he has always been actively opposed to any encroachments on the Shawsheen, and would be well equipped to fight the question in the General Court. The first efforts to take the waters of the Shawsheen were made during Mr. Poor's first term in the Legislature in 1871.

It is suggested that the Selectmen be petitioned to put a strong rail fence on the edge of the new concrete sidewalk, to keep the people from sliding over the edge to an almost certain death in the gully far below.

There is a good deal of criticism of the manner in which the concrete sidewalk has been placed on Essex Street. Its present appearance is certainly not that of a first-class job, and we fear that from the manner in which the grading has been done in several places, there will come considerable damage to our most excellent roadway from washing in heavy rains. May we not suggest to our Commissioner that he be very careful to see that the drainage is sufficient, before a heavy storm washes away a good deal of the money so recently spent on the Essex Street road-bed.

The new method of voting by the Australian system is clearly illustrated on Page 6.

As will be seen by a notice in our advertising columns, there is an opportunity for those who desire to invest in the stock of the Andover Electric Co. It has been generally understood that the stock was entirely taken up, but the reason for their being more on the market, is that, on account of the increased facilities at the plant, new machinery and other necessary things, the capital stock has been raised from $20,000 to probably $35,000. Full particulars will be found in the other notice in regard to time of investment.

Pray conveyed a party to the Lawrence Opera House last Friday night, to witness the "Dark Secret."

Geo. H. Poor Esq., Wm. S. Jenkins, H. H. Tyler and J. A. Smart are enjoying this week a Raymond excursion to the West, going as far as Sioux City, Ia. The party left Monday and about a week will be spent.

We said last week that an iron vault was being put in the new Bank building. It should of course have read steel.

Lincoln Lodge A.O.U.W. have an entertainment in their Hall next Wednesday evening.

The American Missionary for October has in its list of receipts from Andover, $1202.78 from a "Friend" for Girl's Dormitory at Macon, Ga., and $483.22 from Mrs. Phebe A. Chandler for the Chandler Normal School, Lexington, Ky. Both of these places have received previously large gifts from the same sources.

In the yard of Mrs. Doherty's property on Harding Street is a tree laden with Baldwin apples, and right in the midst, this week, was noticed a fine cluster of apple blossoms, quite a rare thing at this time of year.

Harry Lowe had his left eye badly hurt, Monday, while playing foot-ball at Phillips. Several stitches were necessary to mend the slash.

Mrs. Frederic H. Perry and son Ralph F., who have been spending the summer with relatives and friends in this vicinity, left Boston Monday night for New York, en route for Florida. The trip is to be made in that elegantly equipped steamship the "Seminole" of the Clyde line, direct for Jacksonville. On the way to their own home they intend stopping at Andover Hill, Orange Park, Florida, the home of our former fellow-townsmen, John W. Faulkner, where the marriage of Miss Gertrude Faulkner and Edward Moore of Titusville, Fla. is to be solemnized Tuesday, Oct. 8.

Andover did not have many entries at the Essex Agricultural show at Beverly last week, and consequently only a very few premiums came to this town. Shattuck Bros. of West Parish received second premium, $4, for second best Holstein cow; James J. Abbott, second premium, $5, for gray 4-year-old Percheron colt; Samuel Thayer, second premium, $8, for ploughing with single team.

The Selectmen held a special meeting Tuesday afternoon and did the following business: The new asphalt concrete sidewalk on Essex St. was accepted. The following persons were appointed election officers to serve for one year from Nov 1:

Precinct 1.—Wardens, John H. Flint, Peter D. Smith; Clerk, John Tyler Kimball; Inspectors, William P. Regan, Frank B. Jenkins, Alexander Dick, P. J. Hannon.

Precinct 2.—Wardens, John Davey, Howell F. Wilson; Clerk, Phillip Noessel; Inspectors, Chas. H. Shattuck Jr., Chas. F. Billington, William H. Sleath, William S. Clemons.

The polling place for Precinct 2 in Ballardvale will be the hall in the J. P. Bradlee Engine House.

Three ladies and one gentleman applied for assessment of taxes at the meeting of the assessors Tuesday evening.

From a New London, Conn., daily paper we take the following in regard to one of our well known young men:

The house on Broad St., recently purchased by Cassius F. Harris, is to be altered in accordance with plans prepared by George Warren Cole, the architect who is in charge of the public library and the Williams Memorial school. It will be one of the handsomest private residences in the city, and unlike any other in design. There is nothing left to indicate that it is a remodelled house, but with consummate skill the architect has succeeded in planning a residence with every modern essential for beauty and convenience as though he had been untrammelled and free to build from the foundation. There are several architectural effects that will be especially striking from any point of view. He also recently submitted plans for a schoolhouse in the same city to cost $35,000, and received the reward.

Prof. Gentry's dog show in the Town Hall, Tuesday night, attracted a large audience of both old and young. He makes no boasts of his wonderful troupe of dogs, which were not fully carried out. He has them entirely at his command, and the many tricks and performances which they go through were indeed wonderful, and more than would be thought possible from these animals. They did almost everything but talk. Those present were delighted with the performance, and heartily evinced their appreciation by laughter and applause.

Reception to Rev. F. A. Wilson and wife.

The Free church vestry was the scene of a very pleasant reception last Friday evening, tendered by the members of the church to their pastor and wife, who had just returned from a wedding trip in Maine. There was a large attendance of the church congregation, and the evening was most enjoyable in every respect. The church parlor was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, and in this room Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, the latter of whom not many had had the pleasure of meeting, received those present. Tea was served by the ladies, and the time was spent in general sociability and handshaking. In the early part of the evening a Morris reclining chair, a centre table, and about $12 in money were left in the parsonage, gifts from the congregation, for which Mr. Wilson during the evening returned thanks and assured them that the presents were heartily appreciated. The occasion was one of the pleasantest and most social held in the church, and is one of those things which tend to make church work more enjoyable.

Every voter should examine carefully the working of the Australian ballot system on Page 6.

Democratic Caucus.

The Democratic Caucus last Friday night to elect delegates to the several approaching conventions was very slimly attended, a baker's dozen being large enough to cover the whole number. However the business was carried out. J. W. Higgins read the call, and was chosen chairman, with Ezra L. Abbott, secretary. A committee consisting of John S. Stark, J. J. Sweeney and J. M. Bradley was appointed to retire and bring in a list of delegates. Their report which was accepted, was as follows:

State—D. C. Wells, W. P. Reagan, S. B. Locke, E. L. Abbott, J. F. Baldwin.

Councillor—J. H. Flint, R. M. Abbott, Henry Isler, Phillip Noessel.

Senatorial—J. W. Higgins, J. A. Dennison, J. J. Sweeney, J. F. McGuinness.

County—P. J. Scott, C. W. Thwing, J. M. Bradley, Michael Shea.

The following is the town committee for the ensuing year: D. C. Wells, J. J. Sweeney, J. W. Higgins, J. M. Bradley, P. J. Scott.

The State delegates are unpledged, but will without doubt be unanimous for Russell for governor. The senatorial delegation is a solid one for Bradley.

Niotus in Second Place.

The Niotus Club secured second place in the Merrimack Valley Base Ball Association, by winning the final game from the Lawrence Canoe Club last Saturday afternoon, the score being 8 to 4. The game was interesting and exciting, both sides playing hard to win, Niotus getting a trifle the best of it. Churchill and Burt worked well together and both played a strong game. Wrigley and Leitch also put up good ball. For Lawrence, Murphy, Needham and Kennelly did the best work. This ends the series the Vespers of Lowell being first with 6 games won and 2 lost; Niotus second, with 4 won and 4 lost; Lawrence Canoe Club third, with 2 won and 6 lost.

Phillips Academy Notes.

The first foot ball game of the season was played last Friday afternoon, the Phillips having for their opponents the Dartmouth College team of which William Odlin of this town is captain. The Hanover boys were all large fellows, and to their great superior weight can be laid the cause for the large score, 39 to 4. Andover's only point was made on a brilliant rush by Bliss, half the length of the field. Gilbert played a beautiful tackling game, as did Townsend, who was badly hurt during the game. The Dartmouth's play here again Oct. 11.

The Boston Latin School eleven were the opponents of the Phillips team Saturday in a very interesting game of foot ball. The teams were very evenly matched in weight, but the Andover boys outplayed the Boston representatives, winning by a score of 15 to 0. The whole team played well, but the rushing of Bliss and the tackling of Gilbert were the features of the game.

To-morrow the Cambridge High School will play here.

Representative Caucus.

The Republicans of Andover and North Andover will hold a caucus to nominate a candidate for Representative to the General Court, and to transact any other business, in the Town Hall next Friday evening, Oct. 11, at 8 o'clock.

The very interesting letter of Prof. Phelps on "Church Consecration," written in connection with the recent dedication of the beautiful new Congregational church at Bar Harbor, is printed in full on page 6.

The first lecture in the People's Course will be given next Monday night by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore on "The Boy of To-day." Mrs. Livermore is well known as the leader of all lecturers, having been heard in all the principal places in the country. Her lecture will be interesting to old and young, and without doubt will be a fitting opening to this popular course.

The Australian system by which our town will vote for the first time in the coming November state election, is little known to the majority of our voters; but a careful inspection of the illustrated explanation, which is presented this week to our readers on page 6, will, we think make the idea of how it is done quite clear. Hence it is of the greatest importance that every voter should examine it. The value of this system has been proven beyond doubt everywhere it has been tried. In the first place the arrangement for polling is such that entire secrecy in voting is secured, and then an official ballot, containing the names of all the candidates is printed and distributed under state authority. Each of these reasons operate against many evils. It does away in a great measure with all bribery and corruption and other objections, which have been made against its use, have failed wholly to be justified. In all essential particulars it has been found to be beneficial and effective.

The Craighead & Kintz Co. have introduced electric lights into their shipping-room which were in use Wednesday evening.

A missionary concert was held in the Methodist church last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Moore entertained a party of about twenty-five friends and relatives from Lawrence last Thursday evening, at their home on Andover St. In addition to those from Lawrence, a few immediate friends in the place were present. Miss Faith Rushworth presided at the piano, and Mr. Geo. Rushworth gave several cornet solos. Vocal music was also indulged in by the visitors. Refreshments were served later. The out of town guests returned on the 12 o'clock train, all wishing that their visit could have been extended.

Ripe strawberries were picked from vines on Mr. Jos. Shaw's place Sunday, and several plants are in bloom.

John German and James Hudson attended the field parade at Lynn yesterday, of the regiment to which they belong.

W. F. Parker has been on a trip into Vermont this week, buying horses and hay.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Marland attended, Sunday, at Cambridgeport, the funeral of Fred. Parker, who died of consumption a few days previous. He will be remembered by many Ballard Vale friends, as he worked in the shop for about two years. He had a sunny disposition, which made him many friends. The church at Cambridgeport was filled with young people, and there were many beautiful floral offerings.

Mr. W. F. Parker has been in Vermont, buying horses, this week.

Mr. Joseph Kintz's large and handsome cat has been lost or stolen. See Advertisement.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health; to the use of the great Alternative and Tonic. If troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at any Drug store.

NORTH ANDOVER.

The lady friends of Wauwinet Lodge, I.O.O.F. will hold their sale in Odd Fellows Hall, Oct. 18 and 19. The committee of entertainment is Mrs. Geo. Barker (chairwoman), Mrs. James Winning, Mrs. Fred Murch, Mrs. James Woodhouse; confectionery, Mrs. Abbot Prescott (chairwoman), Mrs. David Walworth, Mrs. Geo. Mizen; fancy table, Mrs. Geo. At a meeting of the Executive Council, Boston, on the 26th inst., Gov. Ames presided, and Mr. Henry M. Whitney was appointed a member of the Board of Registration in Pharmacy.

A course of about six social assemblies will be conducted in Odd Fellows Hall this season, under the management of Mrs. Geo. L. Barker, Mrs. Geo. Mizen, Mrs. James Winning, and Mrs. Thos. Somerville.

The members of Wauwinet Lodge with their families assembled Friday evening and appropriately observed the eighth anniversary of its institution. In the lodge room, during the first part of the evening, an entertainment of a varied literary and musical character was well rendered by Misses Alice F. Harris, Maud Robinson, Mary Elliott, and Mr. and Mrs. Partlow; Mr. J. A. Ellison acted as presiding officer. After these exercises a social hop was held in the hall until about 10 o'clock, when the party adjourned to the banquet hall to enjoy a nicely served collation, after which dancing was resumed for a brief season. Among those present were D.D.G.M. Daniel B. Simpson and wife of Lawrence. The affair was well carried through, and enjoyed by all.

The picked rifle-team of Co. L in command of Capt. Reeves attended the annual target rifle practice at Framingham, Thursday, but owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather and the late hour at which they were called upon to shoot, the team deferred making its score until some future time when the range was not obscured by darkness. It was, however, a disappointment to the boys who have spent no little time recently, in careful preparation for the trial.

Harvest night will be fittingly observed by the Grange, Tuesday evening. The committee of arrangements is Mrs. Oscar Young, Mrs. Geo. L. Averill, Mrs. J. Henry Nason, Mrs. F. E. Day, Mrs. John Barker, Mrs. C. C. Barker, Mrs. J. C. Poor, Messrs. Peter Holt Jr. F. E. Nason, F. E. Day, Charles Perley and Frank Foster.

Mr. Amos E. Hazelton was drawn at the meeting of the selectmen, Monday, to serve as juror during the October term of the Superior Court to be held in Lawrence.

Mr. Alfred Saunders and Miss Jennie Holt of Lowell were the guests of Mr. B. P. Saunders, Sunday.

The ladies under whose direction the course of assemblies is to be held in Odd Fellows Hall, have selected the following dates: October 23, November 27, December 13, January 10, January 31, February 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Tucker have been visiting friends in Amesbury, this week.

At the meeting of Wynona Lodge, Monday evening, readings were given by M. W. Dunbar, Miss Alexa G. Saunders, Mr. Wm. Roberts, and a song by Mr. Ed. Freeman. Remarks were made by Past Chief Sprague of Longfellow Lodge, Haverhill, and Mr. Wm. Roberts. One candidate was initiated.

Persons interested in the art of canning fruits and vegetables for the market, and desire to see a choice and varied collection, will be welcomed at the residence of Mr. Leon H. Bassett in the river district, during next week, or the early part of the week following.

The Y.P.M.L. and S. Society meets this evening.

Mr. Geo. Curtis has removed to Haverhill, where he is employed by a shoe firm.

A musical and literary entertainment will be held in Odd Fellows Hall Friday evening, Oct. 25, for the benefit of the Bradstreet Colony of Pilgrim Fathers. A farce will conclude the evening's entertainment. Tickets, 15 and 25 cents.

Messrs. Forest E. Barker and Edwin T. Rowell, representatives of the State Board of electric lights and gas commissioners, conducted a hearing in the office of the Selectmen, Monday morning. The Lawrence Gas Co.'s petition was reviewed, and remarks favorably recommending the rights and privileges of laying pipes through, and erecting poles on, our streets were granted to the above company, were made by Hon. Geo. L. Davis, Agent C. J. R. Humphrey, Hon. J. A. Wiley, and Selectman Barden. No remonstrance was offered, and the decision of the commissioners was reserved for a short time.

The School Committee meets this afternoon.

The Lawrence Gas Company having been granted permission, have a gang of men at work, and will extend the pipes from the Union Street gas main to this town. Work was commenced Thursday.

Hon. Moses T. Stevens, Gen. Eben Sutton, and Jeffrey Kelley, were at the Democratic State Convention, at Worcester, Wednesday.

The North Andover Rifles were represented at the fall drill in Lynn, Thursday, by 46 men and 3 officers, and was one of the largest companies in line. Never before have the boys presented such an excellent appearance on a tour of duty as that made yesterday. The long, tiresome march was withstood nobly by the men, and the wheeling of "our company" was highly commended by competent judges, and drew forth ovation after ovation of applause from the throng of admiring onlookers, and none can but feel that the town was ably and creditably represented by an orderly company. Capt. Reeves has spent many laborious hours in bringing the company to its present state of perfection, and the careful instruction of their commander is bringing forth results that are appreciated by the regimental officers. Lieuts. Weil and Warren accompanied the command.

The next meeting of the Roundabout Club will be held at the residence of Mrs. John Elliott, Tuesday afternoon.

About 25 members of Cochewick Lodge were present to witness the working of Master Mason Degree in Merrimack Lodge, Haverhill, Wednesday evening. D.D.G.M., Dr. C. P. Morrill, was accompanied by Marshal T. K. Gilman, Secretary W. W. Chickering, Treasurer Hon. N. P. Frye.

Saint Matthew's Lodge, Andover, will receive the official visitation of the District Deputy on Monday evening.

The Ladies' Social Club will hold a harvest supper and sale of a few articles from a domestic table, in the vestry of the M. E. Church, Wednesday evening. Tickets, adults 20 cents; children 15 cents. Should inclement weather prevail, the supper will occur Thursday evening.

Mr. Hamlin's store presents a very tasteful appearance, having been handsomely decorated this week with paper ornaments of various shapes and colors.

A programme of the Andover Conference will be found in Andover News.

The Republican Senatorial Convention will be held in Danvers, Monday. Owing to some misunderstanding, only four delegates are allowed, instead of eight as elected. The delegates are, Messrs. Walter H. Hayes, Andrew Reeves, James A. Montgomery, Hans Christensen. Only four are allowed to attend the County and Councillor Conventions in Salem, Wednesday. They are, Messrs. Thomas K. Gilman, John N. Meserve, Wm. A. Johnson, George E. Hathorne.

The Board of Registrars met last night to revise the Voting List.

John P., a second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilton died, Thursday morning, of malignant diphtheria, aged 13 years. Owing to the nature of the disease, the funeral, which was private, was held Thursday afternoon; services being conducted at the grave by Rev. George Walker. There were many beautiful floral offerings from his friends.

The Young Men's Bible Class have resumed their meetings. Instruction will be given by Rev. Mr. Walker each Thursday evening, in the old library room. All will be welcome.

Master C. Whitney Davis charmingly entertained a number of his little friends Saturday afternoon, at the residence of his parents, on Elm Street.

The meeting of the Medical Councillors in Boston, was attended by Dr. F. E. Weil.

Private Charles Woodburn has, by order of the Adjutant General, been discharged from the North Andover Rifles, for the best interests of the service, for non-appearance at muster. Other discharges are expected soon for the same reason.

Rev. George Walker will conduct services at the Almshouse, Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Supt. and Mrs. Burnham extend a neighborly invitation for all desiring to attend.

It was known, Sunday, that thieves had visited the residence of Mr. Charles F. Johnson, in the Kimball District, sometime since dusk on Saturday evening. The fact was learned Sunday morning by Mr. Johnson, who was driving from the home of Mr. S. William Ingalls, with whom he at present resides. Having occasion to stop at his house, which for the past few weeks has been unoccupied, while on his way to church, he found that nearly the entire contents of the dwelling, from cellar to garret, had been examined thoroughly, and also apparently in a very leisurely way, hardly anything, however minute, escaping the observation of the plunderer. Officer Harris was notified of the case by Edward A. Fuller, Monday morning, and promptly communicated the circumstances to Chief Rextrow, and with officers Mizen and Crowther the affair was investigated. It was found that entrance was effected by means of breaking the lattice-work in a cellar window; matches were lighted, and the way was found to the cellar door leading to the first floor. Having forced this door, the thieves commenced operations on the first floor, after securing a lamp, which they lighted to facilitate matters. The desk in Mr. Johnson's library was opened, and the papers therein relating to business matters, which had accrued for several years, were scattered about the room promiscuously. So too, the other rooms and closets in the house received, in turn, like attention. They regaled themselves in the kitchen with grapes, stewing the skins upon the floor; they also took a jar of blueberries and a quantity of cider from the cellar. They departed by a rear door, near which they left the lamp. Officer Harris called the attention of the officers to the peculiarity of the footprints made in the earth in the cellar, which were of two distinct shapes, one of which was long and narrow pointed. These, besides a highly perfumed handkerchief, were the only clue the officers could find. The officers obtained a search-warrant, and visited a house in the lower part of the town in search of the missing property, but their efforts were unavailing. The impression is that the break was instituted by persons who were well acquainted with the premises, and knew also, from the time occupied, that they would not be disturbed. Among the articles that Mr. Johnson finds missing is a silver cake-basket, three gold breastpins, one silver breastpin made from a quarter of a dollar, and given as a present at his silver wedding, a pair of gold and a pair of silver bowed spectacles, one suit of black clothes, a pair of blue pantaloons, a satin vest, several linen handkerchiefs, underwear, stockings, and a collection of old coins. The facts of the case are still in the minds of the officers.

Another larceny was committed, Sunday night, at the house of Mr. Nathaniel Peters, which for boldness has yet to be surpassed. The unfortunate looser was a hired man, named Nelson Brown; as he was about to retire to his room, a person came down stairs and passed him on his way thither. It was very dark in the passageway, and no word was spoken; Mr. Brown thinking all was not right, prepared to discharge his revolver, but on second thoughts concluded not to do so, as it might be some member of the family, and so the person passed out of another door and escaped. After lighting a lamp, Mr. Brown found that a trunk which contained his wearing apparel had been stolen; he at once alarmed the household, and a diligent search was made for the thief, but it availed nothing. Monday, Chief Rextrow and officers Harris, Mizen, and Crowther learned the facts, and after consulting together, obtained a search-warrant, and visited the house, but found no clue. Mr. Mr. Peter's house has already been entered twice before this year. District officer Batchelder is at work on the case.

Labor Day, Dr. Elliott, in company with Mr. Fred. Marland of Lawrence, drove over in the vicinity of Den Rock, hunting. They tied the horse to a tree by the roadside before entering the woods. When they returned from hunting they found that a club-bag containing ammunition, a reefer coat, the property of Mr. Marland, and a light overcoat belonging to Dr. Elliott, had been stolen. No clue was found to the perpetrators until Thursday morning, when Mr.

Marland saw his reefer on a man in Lawrence. He reported to Marshal Vose, who requested the man's presence at the station house. The man proved to be William P. Tucker, of this town, and when questioned he said he purchased it from his son William Tucker, allowing him a week's board for it. Tucker was detained at the station house, and Asst. Marshal Johnson and Officer Kendrick, called Officer Harris, and together they visited Tucker's house to search for other missing articles. In a drawer in the shoe shop, in which Tucker was at work, the officers found the club-bag, and in the house in Tucker's room, Dr. Elliott's light overcoat was found. William Tucker was at once taken into custody, and assigned a cell in the Lawrence Police Station, where they now await trial. Dr. Elliott is now absent in Maine. Officer Harris thinks from facts in his possession, that revelations will soon be made that will lead to the breaking up of the gang located in that part of the town, and that then these larceny operations will become less frequent. Tucker's house was also searched Monday, by the North Andover officers.

Candidates for Representative.

That the choice of a representative to the General Court from the Andover district is in the hands of the republican voters, is a fact demonstrated in more than a score of elections. But that the margin of several hundred votes usual a dozen years ago, has been gradually growing less many of our republican voters overlook. This is, however, a fact also, and we can remember several elections where the margin has been so small as to show that some of our voters want the best men first and party afterward. Inasmuch as the above is so, nearly all of the work for this office comes before the nomination, and this year report has it that several applicants are in the field, each with somewhat of a following. The most prominent ones mentioned in the TOWNSMAN several weeks ago, are A. S. Manning, Barnett Rogers, and George H. Poor, Esq. Mr. Manning represented the district in 1888, and while personally he is doing no work for the office, he would appreciate the honor another year, and friends will endeavor to make the honor his. With perhaps one or two exceptions the duties of the 1888 session were creditably performed by Mr. Manning. Mr. Rogers' principal claim to the office seems to be based upon the past service he has rendered the republican party; a sort of "due bill" as it were, with the demand that now is the time to redeem the "promise to pay." We have the utmost respect for Mr. Rogers' aspirations, and hold him and his adherents in high esteem personally, but as compared with other men who may be named for such an office as this, we believe there are men more "representative" of Andover than he. The third name is a familiar one to Andover people, and stands for much and varied service. An Andover boy, an Andover citizen, many public trusts carefully and honorably performed, all make a strong claim upon the office, on the part of George H. Poor. Mr. Poor possesses many peculiar qualifications for the office, and would make an able representative. A representative of Andover cannot stand for any small clique or clan. He cannot in the light of our extensive and successful manufactures, our grand and honorable institutions of learning, be a narrow man, he cannot, to be the true representative, be an uneducated man. He must be the opposite of all these, and beyond that, be a man of experience coming from knowledge of the town's interests. No man can be found possessing all these qualifications, nor has one ever been found, but in the light of the duties that are sure to be expected from our representative this year, let our voters select wisely, and inasmuch as the choice rests almost wholly with the republicans, let all attend the convention with only the interests of the town in mind, losing sight wholly of any petty disagreements or party quarrels.

One of the strongest reasons for the nomination of Mr. Poor, as representative this year, is his peculiar fitness for some of the duties that are likely to fall to the lot of Andover's representative in the coming legislature. Everything points to the probability of another effort being made to take the waters of the Shawsheen River. The city of Boston has recently given notice to Somerville, Chelsea, and Everett, that she cannot much longer supply them with water, and in fact the Mystic waters are fast becoming so bad that it is quite a question if she can even supply herself. These three towns will combine in their effort to obtain the Shawsheen, as the most available source of supply, and as their needs are imperative, they will make a strong claim, and one that must be met by intelligent and vigorous opposition from Andover's representative. Of course Andover has no further need of the Shawsheen as a source of water supply, but that she still has as pressing need as ever for the use of her waters in manufacturing industries, will be clear to everyone. Another thing that there is danger of our losing sight of, is the matter of sewerage that must come in a few years, and when it comes, the waters of the Shawsheen mean a great saving of money and much to the advantage of public health if they may be used in connection with a sewerage system. Mr. Poor's familiarity with the whole question comes from an acquaintance with it since its first agitation. As counsel for the town and mill owners, he has always been actively opposed to any encroachments on the Shawsheen, and would be well equipped to fight the question in the General Court. The first efforts to take the waters of the Shawsheen were made during Mr. Poor's first term in the Legislature in 1871.

It is suggested that the Selectmen be petitioned to put a strong rail fence on the edge of the new concrete sidewalk, to keep the people from sliding over the edge to an almost certain death in the gully far below.

There is a good deal of criticism of the manner in which the concrete sidewalk has been placed on Essex Street. Its present appearance is certainly not that of a first-class job, and we fear that from the manner in which the grading has been done in several places, there will come considerable damage to our most excellent roadway from washing in heavy rains. May we not suggest to our Commissioner that he be very careful to see that the drainage is sufficient, before a heavy storm washes away a good deal of the money so recently spent on the Essex Street road-bed.

The new method of voting by the Australian system is clearly illustrated on Page 6.

As will be seen by a notice in our advertising columns, there is an opportunity for those who desire to invest in the stock of the Andover Electric Co. It has been generally understood that the stock was entirely taken up, but the reason for their being more on the market, is that, on account of the increased facilities at the plant, new machinery and other necessary things, the capital stock has been raised from $20,000 to probably $35,000. Full particulars will be found in the other notice in regard to time of investment.

Pray conveyed a party to the Lawrence Opera House last Friday night, to witness the "Dark Secret."

Geo. H. Poor Esq., Wm. S. Jenkins, H. H. Tyler and J. A. Smart are enjoying this week a Raymond excursion to the West, going as far as Sioux City, Ia. The party left Monday and about a week will be spent.

The American Missionary for October has in its list of receipts from Andover, $1202.76 from a "Friend" for Girl's Dormitory at Macon, Ga., and $483.22 from Mrs. Phebe A. Chandler for the Chandler Normal School, Lexington, Ky. Both of these places have received previously large gifts from the same sources.

In the yard of Mrs. Doherty's property on Harding Street is a tree laden with Baldwin apples, and right in the midst, this week, was noticed a fine cluster of apple blossoms, quite a rare thing at this time of year.

Harry Lowe had his left eye badly hurt, Monday, while playing foot-ball at Phillips. Several stitches were necessary to mend the slash.

Mrs. Frederic H. Perry and son Ralph F., who have been spending the summer with relatives and friends in this vicinity, left Boston Monday night for New York, en route for Florida. The trip is to be made in that elegantly equipped steamship the "Seminole" of the Clyde line, direct for Jacksonville. On the way to their own home they intend stopping at Andover Hill, Orange Park, Florida, the home of our former fellow-townsmen, John W. Faulkner, where the marriage of Miss Gertie Faulkner and Edward Moore of Titusville, Fla. is to be solemnized Tuesday, Oct. 8.

Andover did not have many entries at the Essex Agricultural show at Beverly last week, and consequently only a very few premiums came to this town. Shattuck Bros. of West Parish received second premium, $4, for second best Holstein cow; James J. Abbott, second premium, $5, for gray 4-year-old Percheron colt; Samuel Trayner, second premium, $8, for ploughing with single team.

The Selectmen held a special meeting Tuesday afternoon and did the following business: The new asphalt concrete sidewalk on Essex St. was accepted. The following persons were appointed election officers to serve for one year from Nov 1:

Precinct 1.—Wardens, John H. Flint, Peter D. Smith; Clerk, John Tyler Kimball; Inspectors, William P. Regan, Frank B. Jenkins, Alexander Dick, P. J. Hannon.

Precinct 2.—Wardens, John Davey, Howell F. Wilson; Clerk, Phillip Noessel; Inspectors, Chas. H. Shattuck Jr., Chas. F. Billington, William H. Sleath, William S. Clemons.

The polling place for Precinct 2 in Ballardvale will be the hall in the J. P. Bradley Engine House.

Three ladies and one gentleman applied for assessment of taxes at the meeting of the assessors Tuesday evening.

From a New London, Conn., daily paper we take the following in regard to one of our well known young men:

The house on Broad St., recently purchased by Cassius F. Harris, is to be altered in accordance with plans prepared by George Warren Cole, the architect who is in charge of the public library and the Williams Memorial school. It will be one of the handsomest private residences in the city, and unlike any other in design. There is nothing left to indicate that it is a remodelled house, but with consummate skill the architect has succeeded in planning a residence with every modern essential for beauty and convenience as though he had been untrammelled and free to build from the foundation. There are several architectural effects that will be especially striking from any point of view. He also recently submitted plans for a schoolhouse in the same city to cost $35,000, and received the reward.

Prof. Gentry's dog show in the Town Hall, Tuesday night, attracted a large audience of both old and young. He makes no boasts of his wonderful troupe of dogs, which were not fully carried out. He has them entirely at his command, and the many tricks and performances which they go through were indeed wonderful, and more than would be thought possible from these animals. They did almost everything but talk. Those present were delighted with the performance, and heartily evinced their appreciation by laughter and applause.

Reception to Rev. F. A. Wilson and wife.

The Free church vestry was the scene of a very pleasant reception last Friday evening, tendered by the members of the church to their pastor and wife, who had just returned from a wedding trip in Maine. There was a large attendance of the church congregation, and the evening was most enjoyable in every respect. The church parlor was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, and in this room Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, the latter of whom not many had had the pleasure of meeting, received those present. Tea was served by the ladies, and the time was spent in general sociability and handshaking. In the early part of the evening a Morris reclining chair, a centre table, and about $12 in money were left in the parsonage, gifts from the congregation, for which Mr. Wilson during the evening returned thanks and assured them that the presents were heartily appreciated. The occasion was one of the pleasantest and most social held in the church, and is one of those things which tend to make church work more enjoyable.

Every voter should examine carefully the working of the Australian ballot system on Page 6.

Democratic Caucus.

The Democratic Caucus last Friday night to elect delegates to the several approaching conventions was very slimly attended, a baker's dozen being large enough to cover the whole number. However the business was carried out. J. W. Higgins read the call, and was chosen chairman, with Ezra L. Abbott, secretary. A committee consisting of John S. Stark, J. J. Sweeney and J. M. Bradley was appointed to retire and bring in a list of delegates. Their report which was accepted, was as follows:

State—D. C. Wells, W. P. Reagan, S. B. Locke, E. L. Abbott, J. F. Baldwin. Councilor—J. H. Flint, R. M. Abbott, Henry Isler, Phillip Noessel. Senatorial—J. W. Higgins, J. A. Dennison, J. J. Sweeney, J. F. McGuinness. County—P. J. Scott, C. W. Thwing, J. M. Bradley, Michael Shea.

The following is the town committee for the ensuing year: D. C. Wells, J. J. Sweeney, J. W. Higgins, J. M. Bradley, P. J. Scott.

The State delegates are unpledged, but will without doubt be unanimous for Russell for governor. The senatorial delegation is a solid one for Bradley.

Niotus in Second Place.

The Niotus Club secured second place in the Merrimack Valley Base Ball Association, by winning the final game from the Lawrence Canoe Club last Saturday afternoon, the score being 8 to 4. The game was interesting and exciting, both sides playing hard to win, Niotus getting a trifle the best of it. Churchill and Burt worked well together and both played a strong game. Wrigley and Leitch also put up good ball. For Lawrence, Murphy, Needham and Kennelly did the best work. This ends the series the Vespers of Lowell being first with 6 games won and 2 lost; Niotus second, with 4 won and 4 lost; Lawrence Canoe Club third, with 2 won and 6 lost.

Phillips Academy Notes.

The first foot ball game of the season was played last Friday afternoon, the Phillips having for their opponents the Dartmouth College team of which William Odlin of this town is captain. The Hanover boys were all large fellows, and to their great superior weight can be laid the cause for the large score, 39 to 4. Andover's only point was made on a brilliant rush by Bliss, half the length of the field. Gilbert played a beautiful tackling game, as did Townsend, who was badly hurt during the game. The Dartmouth's play here again Oct. 11.

The Boston Latin School eleven were the opponents of the Phillips team Saturday in a very interesting game of foot ball. The teams were very evenly matched in weight, but the Andover boys outplayed the Boston representatives, winning by a score of 15 to 0. The whole team played well, but the rushing of Bliss and the tackling of Gilbert were the features of the game.

To-morrow the Cambridge High School will play here.

Representative Caucus.

The Republicans of Andover and North Andover will hold a caucus to nominate a candidate for Representative to the General Court, and to transact any other business, in the Town Hall next Friday evening, Oct. 11, at 8 o'clock.

The very interesting letter of Prof. Phelps on "Church Consecration", written in connection with the recent dedication of the beautiful new Congregational church at Bar Harbor, is printed in full on page 6.

The first lecture in the People's Course will be given next Monday night by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore on "The Boy of To-day." Mrs. Livermore is well known as the leader of all lecturers, having been heard in all the principal places in the country. Her lecture will be interesting to old and young, and without doubt will be a fitting opening to this popular course.

The Australian system by which our town will vote for the first time in the coming November state election, is little known to the majority of our voters; but a careful inspection of the illustrated explanation, which is presented this week to our readers on page 6, will, we think make the idea of how it is done quite clear. Hence it is of the greatest importance that every voter should examine it. The value of this system has been proven beyond doubt everywhere it has been tried. In the first place the arrangement for polling is such that entire secrecy in voting is secured, and then an official ballot, containing the names of all the candidates is printed and distributed under state authority. Each of these reasons operate against many evils. It does away in a great measure with all bribery and corruption and other objections, which have been made against its use, have failed wholly to be justified. In all essential particulars it has been found to be beneficent and effective.

BALLARDVALE

Wm. Bohner has been in Portland, Me., this week.

Thomas Stott is at work in the Craighead & Kintz Co. shop.

Wm. Townsend started Monday for an extended gunning trip down Cape Cod. He expects to be gone some six weeks.

Rev. Mr. Butler will commence a series of illustrated talks next Sunday evening.

The Craighead & Kintz Co. have introduced electric lights into their shipping-room which were in use Wednesday evening.

A missionary concert was held in the Methodist church last Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Moore entertained a party of about twenty-five friends and relatives from Lawrence last Thursday evening, at their home on Andover St. In addition to those from Lawrence, a few immediate friends in the place were present. Miss Faith Rushworth presided at the piano, and Mr. Geo. Rushworth gave several cornet solos. Vocal music was also indulged in by the visitors. Refreshments were served later. The out of town guests returned on the 12 o'clock train, all wishing that their visit could have been extended.

Ripe strawberries were picked from vines on Mr. Jos. Shaw's place Sunday, and several plants are in bloom.

John German and James Hudson attended the field parade at Lynn yesterday, of the regiment to which they belong.

W. F. Parker has been on a trip into Vermont this week, buying horses and hay.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Marland attended, Sunday, at Cambridgeport, the funeral of Fred. Parker, who died of consumption a few days previous. He will be remembered by many Ballard Vale friends, as he worked in the shop for about two years. He had a sunny disposition, which made him many friends. The church at Cambridgeport was filled with young people, and there were many beautiful floral offerings.

Mr. W. F. Parker has been in Vermont, buying horses, this week.

Mr. Joseph Kintz's large and handsome cat has been lost or stolen. See Advertisement.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health; to the use of the great Alternative and Tonic. If troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at any Drug store.

NORTH ANDOVER.

The lady friends of Wauwinet Lodge, I.O.O.F. will hold their sale in Odd Fellows Hall, Oct. 18 and 19. The committee on entertainment is Mrs. Geo. Barker (chairwoman), Mrs. James Winning, Mrs. Fred Murch, Mrs. James Woodhouse; confectionery, Mrs. Abbot Prescott (chairwoman), Mrs. David Walwork, Mrs. Geo. Mizen; fancy table, Mrs. Geo. A course of about six social assemblies will be conducted in Odd Fellows Hall this season, under the management of Mrs. Geo. L. Barker, Mrs. Geo. Mizen, Mrs. James Winning, and Mrs. Thos. Somerville.

The members of Wauwinet Lodge with their families assembled Friday evening and appropriately observed the eighth anniversary of its institution. In the lodge room, during the first part of the evening, an entertainment of a varied literary and musical character was well rendered by Misses Alice F. Harris, Maud Robinson, Mary Elliott, and Mr. and Mrs. Partlow; Mr. J. A. Ellison acted as presiding officer. After these exercises a social hop was held in the hall until about 10 o'clock, when the party adjourned to the banquet hall to enjoy a nicely served collation, after which dancing was resumed for a brief season. Among those present were D.D.G.M. Daniel B. Simpson and wife of Lawrence. The affair was well carried through, and enjoyed by all.

The picked rifle-team of Co. L in command of Capt. Reeves attended the annual target rifle practice at Framingham, Thursday, but owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather and the late hour at which they were called upon to shoot, the team deferred making its score until some future time when the range was not obscured by darkness. It was, however, a disappointment to the boys who have spent no little time recently, in careful preparation for the trial.

Harvest night will be fittingly observed by the Grange, Tuesday evening. The committee of arrangements is Mrs. Oscar Young, Mrs. Geo. L. Averill, Mrs. J. Henry Nason, Mrs. F. E. Day, Mrs. John Barker, Mrs. C. C. Barker, Mrs. J. C. Poor, Messrs. Peter Holt Jr. F. E. Nason, F. E. Day, Charles Perley and Frank Foster.

Mr. Amos E. Hazelton was drawn at the meeting of the selectmen, Monday, to serve as juror during the October term of the Superior Court to be held in Lawrence.

Mr. Alfred Saunders and Miss Jennie Holt of Lowell were the guests of Mr. B. P. Saunders, Sunday.

The ladies under whose direction the course of assemblies is to be held in Odd Fellows Hall, have selected the following dates: October 23, November 27, December 13, January 10, January 31, February 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Tucker have been visiting friends in Amesbury, this week.

At the meeting of Wynona Lodge, Monday evening, readings were given by M. W. Dunbar, Miss Alexa G. Saunders, Mr. Wm. Roberts, and a song by Mr. Ed. Freeman. Remarks were made by Past Chief Sprague of Longfellow Lodge, Haverhill, and Mr. Wm. Roberts. One candid date was initiated.

Persons interested in the art of canning fruits and vegetables for the market, and desire to see a choice and varied collection, will be welcomed at the residence of Mr. Leon H. Bassett in the river district, during next week, or the early part of the week following.

The Y.P.M.L. and S. Society meets this evening.

Mr. Geo. Curtis has removed to Haverhill, where he is employed by a shoe firm.

A musical and literary entertainment will be held in Odd Fellows Hall Friday evening, Oct. 25, for the benefit of the Bradstreet Colony of Pilgrim Fathers. A farce will conclude the evening's entertainment. Tickets, 15 and 25 cents.

Messrs. Forest E. Barker and Edwin T. Rowell, representatives of the State Board of electric lights and gas commissioners, conducted a hearing in the office of the Selectmen, Monday morning. The Lawrence Gas Co.'s petition was reviewed, and remarks favorably recommending the rights and privileges of laying pipes through, and erecting poles on, our streets be granted to the above company, were made by Hon. Geo. L. Davis, Agent C. J. R. Humphrey, Hon. J. A. Wiley, and Selectman Barden. No remonstrance was offered, and the decision of the commissioners was reserved for a short time.

The School Committee meets this afternoon.

The Lawrence Gas Company having been granted permission, have a gang of men at work, and will extend the pipes from the Union Street gas main to this town. Work was commenced Thursday.

Hon. Moses T. Stevens, Gen. Eben Sutton, and Jeffrey Kelley, were at the Democratic State Convention, at Worcester, Wednesday.

The North Andover Rifles were represented at the fall drill in Lynn, Thursday, by 46 men and 3 officers, and was one of the largest companies in line. Never before have the boys presented such an excellent appearance on a tour of duty as that made yesterday. The long, tiresome march was withstood nobly by the men, and the wheeling of "our company" was highly commended by competent judges, and drew forth ovation after ovation of applause from the throng of admiring onlookers, and none can but feel that the town was ably and creditably represented by an orderly company. Capt. Reeves has spent many laborious hours in bringing the company to its present state of perfection, and the careful instruction of their commander is bringing forth results that are appreciated by the regimental officers. Lieuts. Weil and Warren accompanied the command.

The next meeting of the Roundabout Club will be held at the residence of Mrs. John Elliott, Tuesday afternoon.

About 25 members of Cochewick Lodge were present to witness the working of Master Mason Degree in Merrimack Lodge, Haverhill, Wednesday evening. D.D.G.M., Dr. C. P. Morrill, was accompanied by Marshal T. K. Gilman, Secretary W. W. Chickering, Treasurer Hon. N. P. Frye.

Saint Matthew's Lodge, Andover, will receive the official visitation of the District Deputy on Monday evening.

The Ladies' Social Club will hold a harvest supper and sale of a few articles from a domestic table, in the vestry of the M. E. Church, Wednesday evening. Tickets, adults 20 cents; children 15 cents. Should inclement weather prevail, the supper will occur Thursday evening.

Mr. Hamlin's store presents a very tasteful appearance, having been handsomely decorated this week with paper ornaments of various shapes and colors.

A programme of the Andover Conference will be found in Andover News.

The Republican Senatorial Convention will be held in Danvers, Monday. Owing to some misunderstanding, only four delegates are allowed, instead of eight as elected. The delegates are, Messrs. Walter H. Hayes, Andrew Reeves, James A. Montgomery, Hans Christensen. Only four are allowed to attend the County and Councillor Conventions in Salem, Wednesday. They are, Messrs. Thomas K. Gilman, John N. Meserve, Wm. A. Johnson, George E. Hathorne.

The Board of Registrars met last night to revise the Voting List.

John P., a second son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilton died, Thursday morning, of malignant diphtheria, aged 13 years. Owing to the nature of the disease, the funeral, which was private, was held Thursday afternoon; services being conducted at the grave by Rev. George Walker. There were many beautiful floral offerings from his friends.

The Young Men's Bible Class have resumed their meetings. Instruction will be given by Rev. Mr. Walker each Thursday evening, in the old library room. All will be welcome.

Master C. Whitney Davis charmingly entertained a number of his little friends Saturday afternoon, at the residence of his parents, on Elm Street.

The meeting of the Medical Councillors in Boston, was attended by Dr. F. E. Weil.

Private Charles Woodburn has, by order of the Adjutant General, been discharged from the North Andover Rifles, for the best interests of the service, for non-appearance at muster. Other discharges are expected soon for the same reason.

Rev. George Walker will conduct services at the Almshouse, Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Supt. and Mrs. Burnham extend a neighborly invitation for all desiring to attend.

It was known, Sunday, that thieves had visited the residence of Mr. Charles F. Johnson, in the Kimball District, sometime since dusk on Saturday evening. The fact was learned Sunday morning by Mr. Johnson, who was driving from the home of Mr. S. William Ingalls, with whom he at present resides. Having occasion to stop at his house, which for the past few weeks has been unoccupied, while on his way to church, he found that nearly the entire contents of the dwelling, from cellar to garret, had been examined thoroughly, and also apparently in a very leisurely way, hardly anything, however minute, escaping the observation of the plunderer, Officer Harris was notified of the case by Edward A. Fuller, Monday morning, and promptly communicated the circumstances to Chief Rextrow, and with officers Mizen and Crowther the affair was investigated. It was found that entrance was effected by means of breaking the lattice-work in a cellar window; matches were lighted, and the way was found to the cellar door leading to the first floor. Having forced this door, the thieves commenced operations on the first floor, after securing a lamp, which they lighted to facilitate matters. The desk in Mr. Johnson's library was opened, and the papers therein relating to business matters, which had accrued for several years, were scattered about the room promiscuously. So too, the other rooms and closets in the house received, in turn, like attention. They regaled themselves in the kitchen with grapes, stewing the skins upon the floor; they also took a jar of blueberries and a quantity of cider from the cellar. They departed by a rear door, near which they left the lamp. Officer Harris called the attention of the officers to the peculiarity of the footprints made in the earth in the cellar, which were of two distinct shapes, one of which was long and narrow pointed. These, besides a highly perfumed handkerchief, were the only clue the officers could find. The officers obtained a search-warrant, and visited a house in the lower part of the town in search of the missing property, but their efforts were unavailing. The impression is that the break was instituted by persons who were well acquainted with the premises, and knew also, from the time occupied, that they would not be disturbed. Among the articles that Mr. Johnson finds missing is a silver cake-basket, three gold breastpins, one silver breastpin made from a quarter of a dollar, and given as a present at his silver wedding, a pair of gold and a pair of silver bowed spectacles, one suit of black clothes, a pair of blue pantaloons, a satin vest, several linen handkerchiefs, underwear, stockings, and a collection of old coins. The facts of the case are still in the minds of the officers.

Another larceny was committed, Sunday night, at the house of Mr. Nathaniel Peters, which for boldness has yet to be surpassed. The unfortunate looser was a hired man, named Nelson Brown; as he was about to retire to his room, a person came down stairs and passed him on his way thither. It was very dark in the passageway, and no word was spoken; Mr. Brown thinking all was not right, prepared to discharge his revolver, but on second thoughts concluded not to do so, as it might be some member of the family, and so the person passed out of another door and escaped. After lighting a lamp, Mr. Brown found that a trunk which contained his wearing apparel had been stolen; he at once alarmed the household, and a diligent search was made for the thief, but it availed nothing. Monday, Chief Rextrow and officers Harris, Mizen, and Crowther learned the facts, and after consulting together, obtained a search-warrant, and visited the house, but found no clue. Mr. Mr. Peter's house has already been entered twice before this year. District officer Batchelder is at work on the case.

Labor Day, Dr. Elliott, in company with Mr. Fred Marland of Lawrence, drove over in the vicinity of Den Rock, hunting. They tied the horse to a tree by the roadside before entering the woods. When they returned from hunting they found that a club-bag containing ammunition, a reefer coat, the property of Mr. Marland, and a light overcoat belonging to Dr. Elliott, had been stolen. No clew was found to the perpetrators until Thursday morning, when Mr.

Marland saw his reefer on a man in Lawrence. He reported to Marshal Vose, who requested the man's presence at the station house. The man proved to be William P. Tucker, of this town, and when questioned he said he purchased it from his son William Tucker, allowing him a week's board for it. Tucker was detained at the station house, and Asst. Marshal Johnson and Officer Kendrick, called Officer Harris, and together they visited Tucker's house to search for other missing articles. In a drawer in the shoe shop, in which Tucker was at work, the officers found the club-bag, and in the house in Tucker's room, Dr. Elliott's light overcoat was found. William Tucker was at once taken into custody, and assigned a cell in the Lawrence Police Station, where they now await trial. Dr. Elliott is now absent in Maine. Officer Harris thinks from facts in his possession, that revelations will soon be made that will lead to the breaking up of the gang located in that part of the town, and that then these larceny operations will become less frequent. Tucker's house was also searched Monday, by the North Andover officers.

SKETCH OF POLLING PLACE.

SUGGESTIONS TO VOTERS.

Give your name and residence to the ballot clerk, who, on finding your name on the check list, will admit you within the rail and hand you a ballot.

Go alone to one of the voting shelves and there unfold your ballot.

Mark a cross X in the square at the right of the name of each person for whom you wish to vote. No other method of marking, such as erasing names, will answer.

Thus, if you wished to vote for John Bowles for Governor, you would mark your ballot in this way:—

GOVERNOR. . . . . Vote for ONE.
JOHN BOWLES, of Taunton, . . . . . Prohibition.	X
THOMAS E. MEANS, of Boston, . . . . . Democratic.
ELIJAH SMITH, of Pittsfield, . . . . . Republican.

If you wish to vote for a person whose name is not on the ballot, write, or insert by a sticker, the name in the blank line at the end of the list of candidates for the office, and mark a cross X in the square at the right of it. Thus if you wished to vote for George T. Morton, of Chelsea, for Governor, you would prepare your ballot in this way:—

GOVERNOR. . . . . Vote for ONE.
JONH BOWLES, of Taunton, . . . . . Prohibition.
THOMAS E. MEANS, of Boston, . . . . . Democratic.
ELIJAH SMITH, of Pittsfield, . . . . . Republican.
George T. Morton, of Chelsea,	X

Notice, that for some offices you may vote for "two" or "three" candidates, as stated in the ballot at the right of the name of the office to be voted for, e.g.: "COMMISSIONERS OF INSOLVENCY. Vote for THREE."

If you spoil a ballot, return it to the ballot clerk, who will give you another. You cannot have more than two extra ballots, or three in all.

You cannot remain within the rail more than ten minutes, and in case all the shelves are in use and other voters waiting, you are allowed only five minutes at the voting shelf.

Before leaving the voting shelf, fold your ballot in the same way as it was folded when you received it, and keep it so folded until you place it in the ballot box.

Do not show any one how you have marked your ballot.

Go to the ballot box and give your name and residence to the officer in charge.

Put your folded ballot in the box with the certificate of the Secretary of the Commonwealth uppermost and in sight.

You are not allowed to carry away a ballot, whether spoiled or not.

A voter who declares to the presiding official (under oath, if required) that he was a voter before May 1, 1867, and cannot read, or that he is blind or physically unable to mark his ballot, can receive the assistance of one or two of the election officers in the marking of his ballot.

To Vote for a person, mark a Cross X in the Square at the right of the name.

Consecrating Church Edifices.

The following letter in a recent copy of the Bar Harbor Record written by Prof. Austin Phelps, was read in the Congregational church at that place Sunday, Sept. 22, and as it may be of interest to some of our readers, it is presented in full:

Dear Friends: It was in my mind to be with you at the dedication of your beautiful church this morning, and if possible to take part in the services, as I was requested to do, by your pastor. I made preparation for it, but at the last moment I was obliged by my infirm health to abandon my purpose. Will you permit me to say in writing, though after the proper hour, what I would have said in person?

The single thought which I should have emphasized is that of the importance of treating the Lord's House as a consecrated place. Our Congregational traditions have not trained us to this duty as it deserves. We have built a great many meeting-houses which have been more like barns than churches. Some of them have been easily transformed into railroad-stations.

One became a stable, and another a brewery. It has been difficult to feel for such edifices the reverence due to places where God is worshipped and prayer is answered.

This is not now the case with you. You have erected a beautiful structure which is worthy of the purpose to which you have consecrated it. Artists and men of culture pronounce it a thing of beauty. You have given it to God. You have offered Him the best you have. You believe He has accepted your gift. The Temple of Solomon was not more truly His dwelling-place than this churchy structure in Bar Harbor is. God owns it. The Great and Holy One who inhabiteth eternity, and whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain, condescends to enter it, whenever two or three are present there to pray. Every Sabbath day He will be there before you. Every stone in its walls is sacred. Every rafter in its roof is holy. Angels will hover over its pulpit, and tread its floor. God takes great pains to interest Himself in the house which you have built for Him. Read the account of the building of Solomon's Temple. You will observe how careful the Lord was to keep it holy. No sound of a hammer was heard in the building of it. It was to be a still place—a place of holy thinking—a place of honest prayer, because God was to be there. The man who entered it thoughtlessly committed a sin. He who in prayer spoke a lie there, invited God's displeasure. God called it "My house"—"the Place where mine honor dwelleth"—"the Gate of Heaven." Such was his conception of the building which His people had erected for His worship.

Now, I conceive that the spirit of that ancient Temple has come down to every Christian church in the world. It belongs to this elegant church in Bar Harbor. The blessed presence of God consecrates this temple as it did that. Your pastor will speak here, under the shadow of that awful presence, as truly as the High Priest of Israel did.

Does not such a place deserve to be treated like what it is—the dwelling-place of God? I conceive that He will be pleased if this costly church of yours and His is kept sacred to holy uses. No secular assemblies should be allowed to meet in it. No man should ever enter it with covered head. None but sacred music should be heard there. Children should not romp in its aisles on a week-day. Worshippers should never fall asleep there while holy services are going on. The building should be kept in good repair. It should never be suffered to fall into decay. Let the church stand till the end of time, as a sacred thing, unless fire from heaven should consume it, or an earthquake topple it to the ground.

Thus your offering to the most High God will bear witness to your reverence for Him and for His worship. Your children and children's children will learn to love it. They will think of it as the place where their fathers and mothers prayed. They will thank God for the Sabbaths they spent there in their youth. And strangers when they come here from afar, will note what you have done in your reverence for God, and may go home to imitate your example. May the blessing which God has promised to them who do well be with you always!

Your Friend,
AUSTIN PHELPS.

Little foxes of expense—lamp chimneys—they cost a trifle apiece; but they break so!

That is a needless extravagance. There are chimneys that do not break; they cost no more at your dealer's than brittle ones, if he has them; and he will get them if you insist.

Brittle chimneys make double appeal to a dealer's cupidity. Cost is almost nothing and sales are constant.

Tough chimneys cost more at wholesale, but not enough more to compel a higher price. The dealer loses the difference. Then they last indefinitely. It takes a bright man to see his advantage in selling them. "Pearl-top" chimneys, made by Macbeth & Co., Pittsburgh, are tough.

RELIGIOUS NEWS AND NOTES.

Rev. Frederic Palmer preached at Christ church Sunday on The function and eternal existence of the Divine reasonableness, as set forth in John 1:1. The second service on Sunday will hereafter begin at 7.15 instead of 5, and will include a sermon as well as evening prayer.

"The great principle of Christian sympathy," was the subject of Rev. Mr. Wilson's sermon at the Free church Sunday morning, the text being Romans 12:15. In the evening a very interesting missionary concert was held, The American Board and its work forming the topic. Several sketches of the various missions all over the world were read, showing the great good accomplished by this society.

Rev. F. W. Greene, at the West church, spoke in the morning on "The debt we owe"—Romans 1:14. In the evening he addressed an audience in the Osgood District.

Sunday morning, at the Chapel, Prof. Harris preached from the text John 5:17, "My father worketh hitherto, and I work."

Mr. George F. Kenngott, late of the Seminary, will be ordained to the ministry and installed over the Congregational church at Newport, N. H., on October 8. Rev. W. J. Tucker, D.D., of Andover is expected to preach the sermon.

Farewell words of Rev. Mr. Stratton.

At the Baptist church, Sunday, Rev. Mr. Stratton preached in the morning from Rev. 22:5.

Instead of the usual form of the evening service the pastor delivered a discourse appropriate to the occasion of the close of his labors with this church. The text was Rev. 21:1, and introduced a very impressive view of the emblematic statement, "There was no more sea." "Separations, and all afflictions unknown in Heaven," formed the theme. At the close, Mr. Stratton in a few chosen and fitting words alluded to the period of his service in connection with this field, bespeaking the sympathy and friendly prayers of the church for his future success.

During his stay among us for a year and a half, Rev. Mr. Stratton in an eminent manner won the esteem not only of his own parishioners, but of the public generally as a very able preacher, and a courteous gentleman. As a minister he has been cordially welcomed in other pulpits in town, and by very many he will be remembered as uniting a pleasing address with great fidelity and pungency in presenting the truth.

The son of Mr. Stratton will continue his course of study at Phillips. A daughter is at the Holyoke Female College. The family has broken up housekeeping, the wife visiting her friends in Pennsylvania. Mr. Stratton, we believe, expects to reside for a time in the vicinity of Boston.

Annie, daughter of Mr. William Clark, died last Friday morning after a long, lingering illness which she bore very patiently. Her funeral took place last Sunday. Services were conducted by Rev. Frederic A. Wilson of the Free church in the hall at 2 P. M. There was a large attendance, among them her teacher, Miss Emma L. Ward, and the most of her schoolmates, who provided a very beautiful wreath of flowers. Annie was 12 years and 9 months old, and was much loved by her schoolmates and all who knew her. Much sympathy is felt for her father, mother and sisters in their bereavement. Interment was in the West Parish Cemetery.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottles of his wonderful Discovery free at all Drugstores.

The presentation of the cup will be made to the Andovers (to-morrow) Saturday evening in the new Hall building at 7.45. Pres. Patchett of the No. Andovers C. C. will present the cup, the presentation to be followed by an entertainment. Tickets, 25 cents each, can be had from the members of the committee.

The No. Andovers will play the home team a game to-morrow at 2 P. M. on the latter's grounds. The following will represent Andover: D. F. Bruce (Capt.), H. Kydd, G. Christie, A. Saunders, E. White, J. C. Low, W. Grieg, T. Wilkie, J. Porter, W. Morrison, A. L. Dick.

Miss Mary Ferguson, of Haverhill, was visiting at Mr. Seacole's, Sunday.

Mr. Chas. Busfield of Merrimac spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents.

The regular monthly meeting of the A. C. C. was held in the Club room Tuesday last, Pres. Warden in the chair. The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read and approved. It was agreed to unite with the four clubs in Lawrence, in running a united concert and ball some time this winter. A committee of four was appointed to act with the committees from the other clubs in making the necessary arrangements.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Henry J. Roan of Southbridge, and Miss Jeanette McIntosh, daughter of Mrs. M. C. McIntosh, were united in marriage by the Rev. Frederic Palmer at the house of the bride in this village. There was quite a large number present at the ceremony, mostly near relatives and very intimate friends. They were the recipients of many useful and valuable presents. After receiving the well wishes and congratulations of those present, Mr. and Mrs. Roan left for Providence, R. I., where they will spend a few days prior to taking up their home in Southbridge, where he is an overseer of weaving in the Southbridge Mills.

A game of cricket between Frye Village and the home team was played on the grounds of the latter last Saturday afternoon. Andovers lacked several of their best bats, and winning the toss, sent their opponents to the field. The bowling of Smith and Kydd was very good, however, and the small total of 35 runs was all that was realized, of which number Saunders had 15 (not out) by careful play, although he gave a doubtful chance at 2. Small as the total was, Frye was unable to reach it, being all dismissed for 9 runs, Collins being the only one to score at all. Bruce had 4 wickets for 2 runs, and Kydd 5 for 7. The scores:

OCTOBER WEDDINGS.

Useful hints for wedding presents may not come amiss. May we suggest? Silver Tea Service, Ice Pitcher, Cake Basket, Fruit Knives, Tea Knives, Dinner Knives, Carving Knives, Butter Dish, Card Salver, Nut Picks, Sugar Spoons, Dessert Spoons, Table Spoons, Ladles, Napkin Rings, and an almost endless variety of solid and plated articles in silver, or a Marble Mantel Clock, the real thing or imitation, very handsome. Many other articles space will not permit mention of.
